Excerpt from Some Little-Known Insects Affecting Stored Vegetable Products: A Collection of Articles Detailing Certain Original Observations Made Upon Insects of This Class The records consulted Show a present known total Of between 150 and 200 species Of insects that occur more or less frequently and normally in stored materials. About half Of these species have been reared and Observed at this Office. Certain of the more interesting and lesser-known forms have received mention in Short articles and notes published in divisional bulletins and elsewhere, and the commoner species have been treated in a more popular manner in three articles, prepared, respectively, for the Year book Of the Department Of Agriculture for 1894, a Bulletin on House hold Insects (bull. No. 4, n. Issued by this Division, and a Farmers Bulletin recently published by the Department, making a total of eleven titles of publications having a bearing on this subject. The completion Of a more comprehensive bulletin is necessarily Of so slow accomplishment that it has been thought desirable to bring together for publication a portion Of the accumulated information on some Of...
