SPEED TRAP (THE CAL BOCOCK ADVENTURES) (VOLUME 1)

CreateSpace Independent Publishing Platform. Paperback. Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. 386 pages. Dimensions: 9.0in. x 6.0in. x 0.9in. Enraged about corruption in a small town near the coast, the governor of 1959 Georgia has had enough. Cops in Astoria are pulling over scores of Florida-bound tourists and writing tickets, demanding unreasonable on-the-spot cash payments. Travelers are also being drawn into impossible-to-win dice games in roadside stores by hucksters who scam away their vacation savings and beat them senseless if they cant pay. Astoria is also infamous for cat houses offering pleasures of the flesh. Governor Buford Dunlap puts up billboards to warn out-of-state drivers, and sends state troopers to guard them from locals who would otherwise tear them down. One trooper, Cal Boccock, is pulled away from guard duty late one night and taken to a mysterious murder scene by a young man terrified of Astorias evil cops, who apparently break more laws than they enforce. Boccock, just 26, is a second-generation cop and a Korean War hero. He is single, sandy-haired, attractive and quietly ambitious: investigating a murder is clearly much better duty than guarding a billboard. Bococons initiative prompts the governor to promote him to special investigator assigned to end the lifelong rule of Astorias strongman ruler, Earl Boss Griffin. Boccock is ordered to live among the locals, and his new home in a trailer park is ground zero for Astorias collection of well-drawn, fascinating characters. Bococons life becomes good cop versus a cadre of bad cops, and he is tested each and every day not only to ferret out the wrongdoers, but to stay alive. This item ships from La Vergne, TN. Paperback.
